

ESSAY ABOUT RAINYDAY

All the Rainy Day essays are written in simple English, providing all the information about how rainy day occurs, how it feels on a rainy day, what are the .

My class teacher scolded me for staring outside the window constantly. We have provided the essay on a rainy day for children's and school students. After taking shower we enjoy eating pakoras together. School children, office goers or other commuters might have to delay or even postpone their commute, because of rain. Plants, birds and human beings, everyone participates in celebrating rains. Getting up on a rainy day is like getting up with the beautiful sound of raindrops falling and a cool breeze buzzing past your ears. Some of them were taking stroll. As the rain is over, the intensity of heat is mitigated. It is a treat for the senses. Everyone has his own way of rejoicing the rain. The air is free from dust. Here much depends upon monsoon and rains. Everybody is crying for rain. He went away to the office. I later spend my whole day lying on sofa in my pajamas and watching my favorite movies. The fresh aroma of rain was simply tantalizing. Children moved out on the streets almost shrieking in laughter. I took a chair and sat down in it comfortably in the balcony. My ideal rainy day would be sitting by the window and watching rain, catching some droplets of rain and feeling the chilly breeze on my cheeks. I was returning home from college. If you live in a place with any forest, agricultural field nearby; plan a trip there, to witness the full beauty of the rain and also the earth as it gets cleaned. At long last, God was pleased to send clouds. The trees and plants get bathed and offer a neat and clean look. We also were extremely tired. It brought down the temperature. Water collected in holes and small pools of water appeared everywhere. There was a bit of inconvenience too. While monsoon has a definite arrival time, duration and exit pattern; a rainy day on the other hand, can occur anytime of the year, though, it is also more likely to occur during monsoon. Earth is transformed into a rich green land with blooming flowers dancing and celebrating monsoon. The drains had choked at many places. It was a day of continuous rainfalls.